Share files on the go with USB memory stick

Xmultiple has developed the revolutionary, new and patent pending technology called FlashPoint. FlashPoint provides users the freedom to transfer files between flash drives, "Sharing-On-The-Go" (SOTG), without the need of a notebook computer or cumbersome USB Bridges.

Sprint. Sprint PCS. Now

Protect your Valentine from ugly overages.

SOTG technology is embedded into Xmultiple's ShareDrive line of USB flash memory pen drives and can easily download and upload data files between a SP pen drive and any other USB Memory pen drive or any other USB memory peripheral such as cor and MP3 players.

ShareDrives are small, lightweight devices about the size of a traditional pen drive, are powered rechargeable lithium-ion battery and are available in 512MB, 1GB and 2GB sizes. Features include

- Easy one-step file transferring procedure
- Upload data from any computer or host device or any other pen drive
- Download data to other ShareDrives or any other pen drive
- Automatic USB battery pack power management
- Low battery power indicator

With Xmultiple's FlashPoint ShareDrives applications are only limited by the imagination. At last electronic data has truly been set free of the bulky hardware. Now you can transfer data without a computer or USB bridge:

- Share business files at lunch, while traveling or at meetings as simply as shaking hands!
- Swap MP3 music or photo files with friends at school or around town or at the office
- Exchange business cards or product sheets at trade shows electronically
- Make back-up recordings of other pen drive files or USB equipped peripherals.

New FlashPoint ShareDrive USB Memory pen drives are small enough to fit on a key chain for carry and have enough capacity for maximum enjoyment. This new technology will play a big role in the increasing portable digital formats for data files, digital photos and the growing MP3 segment of the world.

Not just a USB Memory pen drive, but a USB Memory pen drive with intelligence.
